Ideal Weather Speeds Work On Barkley Locks

Aided by ideal September weather and previous detailed planning, work on the huge Barkley Project lock reached a new high as 56,192 cubic yards of concrete were placed during the month.

Col. Marion H. May, Acting District Engineer for the Nashville District, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, said that the contractor was working around the clock, six days a week on the structure. Approximately 750 employees were listed on the payrolls of The Tecon Corporation of Dallas, Texas, and its subcontractors.

Concrete placed to date is 106,200 cubic yards or about 20 per cent of the total estimated volume of 533,000 cubic yards, reported Colonel May. A slight delay in initiating the concrete work is expected to be overcome in the period between now and October 1960, scheduled completion date for masonry work. Colonel May said the contractor has an adequate plant, good all-weather haul roads and other facilities to continue operations much of the winter season. Previous construction, including the excavation of a portion of the lock, has enabled the lock contractor to obtain his final grade lines with minimum delay and expedite placement of concrete. The lock walls will rise approximately 100 feet from bed rock in certain areas.

Scheduled completion of all details of the lock contract is April 1961, according to the Acting District Engineer, with full use of this navigation aid at normal reservoir pool set for the fall of 1963.

Robison Stops At Steam Plant Site

PARADISE (UPI) — John M. Robison Jr., Republican candidate for governor, stopped briefly at this little western Kentucky community Saturday to look over the site of the new Tennessee Valley Authority steam plant on the Green River.

Robison, who was on his way from Central City to Morgantown, parked his car on a dusty road and walked more than a mile up a dusty trail leading to the spot.

He said he would guess he was one of the first spectators at the site where the huge plant is to be built.

Robison said a few pieces of construction equipment had been moved into the area but no work begun that is apparent as yet.

The candidate said he would give "all possible assistance in developing opportunities here for industry" if he is elected governor in the November general election.

Senator Cooper Comments On Plant

Senator John Sherman Cooper today commented on the location of the new steam plant in Kentucky.

The $100 million Paradise Generating Plant is the first result of the TVA Self-Financing bill, approved two months ago, after years of effort in the Congress.

"In addition to serving power needs in the entire TVA area, I know that the new plant and the $190 million coal contract will mean a great deal to the economy and the people of Western Kentucky and will also attract other industries. I am very glad to have played a part in securing the legislation which makes the new TVA plant possible," Senator Cooper said.

Senator Cooper first proposed TVA Self-Financing in 1953, and in the last three years, led the fight in the Senate for the bill authorizing additional TVA facilities through the sale of bonds.

Veteran Airline Pilot With 45 Aboard Guides Rookie In

By ROBERT CRAM
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Airlines pilot who took a DC-6 full of people off course to help guide a young student pilot to a safe landing at Schenectady, N.Y., said today the student was "a cool character."

"It's hard to say what goes through the head of a kid when he's in a jam like this one was," veteran Capt. Walter Moran said of Guy Stultz, 22, Brookton, Mass., a sky rookie who ran into trouble on his first solo Sunday.

"But this young man was a cool character as far as I'm concerned," Moran said. "He used every piece of equipment — including amazingly good luck — to his best advantage."

Robison, who was on his way from Central City to Morgantown, parked his car on a dusty road and walked more than a mile up a dusty trail leading to the spot.

He said he would guess he was one of the first spectators at the site where the huge plant is to be built.

Soviet's Third Lunar Rocket Is On Way To Goal

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's third lunar rocket was almost two-thirds of the way to its target today on a course that should swing it around the moon. A Russian scientist said it has paved the way for flights to Mars and Venus "in the immediate future."

The Tass news agency said that by noon Moscow time 5 a. m. EDT, the 614-pound "interplanetary space station" had reached a distance of 154,100 miles from the earth. The moon is approximately 238,000 miles from earth.

The Tass announcement said data received from the rocket "confirm the high precision achieved in putting the rocket into its set orbit."

Will It Orbit
The Soviet press and radio hailed the success of the new lunar probe attempt and Russian scientists told the world the Soviet Union's space program was not aimed at establishing military bases at the moon. But one scientist, M. N. Gnevyshev, laid a basis for future space tries with his statement about the present effort paving the way for flights to Mars and Venus.

A big question remained: will the rocket circle the moon as is intended and photograph the as-yet-unseen far side?

Tass said the rocket would reach its closest point to the moon at 5 p. m. 10 a. m. EDT, Tuesday, adding that it will then be 4,300 miles from the moon.

The Soviets had indicated the rocket would photograph the far side of the moon and transmit pictures of it back to earth by radio signal.

Speed Is Slower
Tass said that by noon 5 a. m. EDT, "the third Soviet cosmic rocket has reached a distance of 248,000 kilometers 254,100 miles from the earth, and was over the eastern part of the Indian Ocean, with coordinates 14 degrees 20 minutes southern latitude and 98 degrees 00 minutes longitude east."

When the rocket reaches the vicinity of the moon Tuesday afternoon, Tass said it will have taken about 2 1/2 days to cover the distance from earth.

This is longer than the time taken by either of the previous Soviet moon rockets — the first launched last January and the second last month.

This is because the third rocket, launched Sunday morning, has been given a slower speed so that it can orbit around the moon and return in the direction of earth.

Next Report Tonight
The next progress report was to be sent back from the rocket between 3 and 5 p. m. 8 a.m. 10 a. m. EDT, Tass reported. It was to be released tonight.

Tass said future reports on the movement of the rocket and the results of scientific observations would be released every 24 hours after each period of transmission from the rocket itself, and after the data has been analyzed.

At the Jodrell Bank observatory in England, Dr. J. G. Davies said interest there centered on what course the rocket would take if it passed behind the moon.

He said it might return to earth and burn up in the atmosphere but that the Russians obviously hoped it would go into a long cigar-shaped orbit around the earth and continue circling.

Gnevyshev, who is in charge of the high-altitude solar station in the Caucasus, said the launching of three moon rockets within a year gives rise to the firm belief that "flights to other bodies of the solar system, such as Mars and Venus, will take place in the immediate future."

"The time is drawing near when Soviet rockets will land there."

He was joined in his prediction by E. N. Pavlovsky, president of the Soviet Geographical Society, who said the time was fast approaching when interplanetary journeys will take place and Russian scientists "may be able to receive samples of rock from the moon."

Alston Says Dodgers Were Lucky To Win

By JOE ST. AMANT
United Press International
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "We were lucky to win."

That was Manager Walter Alston's admission after Sunday's 3-1 win over the Chicago White Sox in the third game of the World Series but he and his players appeared to be quietly confident that they can continue to be "lucky."

Even with a 2-1 lead in the series, the Dodgers took it slow and easy in their dressing room. There was little horse-play, and little shouting.

"That's the way it's been all year with us," explained first baseman Gil Hodges. "We've never whooped it up too much. You might hear a lot more yelling, though, after we win the series."

Make No Predictions

No one would make any predictions about the number of games the series might go.

"Nope," said Alston, "I'm not going to make any predictions on how many games it will take us to win. A lot of things can happen yet."

"Yes, we were lucky to win this one," he added. "What else can you say when they get 12 hits and so many walks and we get only five hits?"

Alston said he thought the background of the huge white-eared ground of the Coliseum was a disadvantage for both teams.

"That's why I don't think you'll see a big scoring game here."

Lopes Puzzled

In the White Sox dressing room, Manager Al Lopez tried to take the loss in stride, saying, "The Dodgers hit when it counted and we didn't."

He was puzzled about how the game went, however, and commented, "I can't recall a game in which we got 41 hits and no runs off a pitcher like we did against Don Drysdale."

He was asked why he didn't send in pinch runners for his two notably slow men, Yogi Berra and Snerm Lollar when they got on base in the eighth inning and he said:

"I didn't want to take the power out of the lineup when we were behind."

HE'S HAD IT—Daniel J. Koenig seems a bit camera shy as an FBI agent escorts him in Miami, Fla. And well he might be, because he's held in connection with a Yorkville, O., bank holdup and a matter of $38,846. Two bad guys did it in August.

SCHOOL DAZE—Science teacher Paul Nowak starts a clean-up job at Carver Elementary school in Detroit, where vandals who apparently ignored the blackboard message ripped cushions, poured glue over benches and damaged shop equipment. They did an estimated $1,500 job.

Baby Bottle Draws Bolshevik Stares

MOSCOW — (UPI) — A plastic baby nursing bottle drew as many curious stares and questions as almost any other item displayed at the American exhibition in Moscow.

Many of the Russian mothers — and fathers, too — who stared at, handled and pinched the bottles appeared skeptical when informed that such bottles were commonplace in American homes.

A spokesman for the Usvoi Rubber Co. of Pervodene, R. I., which furnished the bottles for the exhibit, said a check of Moscow's largest stores found no such bottles for sale, and very few glass nursing bottles.

It was explained most Russian mothers nurse their babies themselves and bottles enter the picture only when their infants become ill and are taken to a clinic. Then, formulas are offered in sterilized glass bottles.

BACKSTAIRS AT THE WHITEHOUSE

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Seems funny to be traveling en masse again without having to worry about the Russian secret police. Or Russian reporters. Or interpreters. Or geiger counters for the food.

White House Press Secretary Jim Hagerty is living apart from the White House reporters this trip. Says he needs a rest. Intends to keep regular office hours and not be available for questioning every time he sits down to a meal.

The Soviet reporters who traveled with Premier Khrushchev got $40 spending money for their 15-day trip in the United States. Good thing they didn't hit Palm Springs. This is the place where quart bottles of perfume sell for nearly a thousand dollars.

If it had not been for his lingering, uncomfortable cold, President Eisenhower wanted to skip a vacation this fall. He told friends in the late summer that his vacations had gotten so complicated and cumbersome that he really didn't get much of a holiday. Hence, the "no visitors" sign on this current trip. California politicians are being advised quietly to stay out of the picture. This is a real rest trip.

Freeman Gosden of Amos 'n' Andy fame and an Eisenhower buddy made many of the arrangements for the White House party in Palm Springs.

The White House will deny it to the skies, but this is the truth: The people around the President and the chief executive himself, turned down a number of invitations to Palm Springs since they were last out here in February, 1954.

Why? There was too much whoopie to suit the President and his staff during their last sojourn beside the California desert.

Movie stars, song pluggers, faith healers and even unfrocked Indian chiefs descended on the Palm Springs area when the President was here in 1954 and did their level best to cut themselves into the attendant publicity.

Some of the movie colony were quite sensible and formed lasting friendships with the White House crowd, but the fringe characters who wanted their pictures made with Eisenhower gave Hagerty and other staff members a tough time of it.

When the White House staff goes on a trip these days, they seem to spend a good bit of their time out of town planning the next major activity on the president's schedule.

For instance, here in Palm Springs the detailed plans are being completed for the Washington visit of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico who will arrive at the White House Oct. 9.

And Palm Springs also is the scene of the detailed planning for the president's Oct. 13 visit to his boyhood home of Abilene, Kans.

Europe's largest meat-marketing center is being built in Hamburg, Germany. It will be air-conditioned and have nearly 190 stalls over an area of 50,000 square feet.

Coal output per man per day in the United States is 11 tons, compared with 1.78 tons in Great Britain, 1.74 in Germany, 1.85 in France and 1.27 in Belgium.

The Soviet Union's production of cheese has increased from 25,000 to 150,000 metric tons since before World War II.
